WE NEED MORE GIRLS IN CODING!

1. Tech often reflects those that created it.

If you want your technology to reflect your own values, needs, and style, you need to get in on designing it!

2. Women deserve financial freedom

There is plenty of money to be made in tech and you, as the future of the workforce, have every right to access that money through a great-paying job in tech!

3. It's easy to learn!

There is a myth that coding is hard to learn and understand but in reality, it's just like anything else. You learned to read, which is a code, so you can learn computer coding too!

4. There are many work from home options

Tech jobs often allow employees to work from home with flexible hours so you can set the tone for the type of lifestyle you want at different stages of your life.

5. Scholarships may be available

Many schools and bootcamps offer scholarships and bursaries to women entering tech!

You deserve a career that can give you the lifestyle you're looking for! Consider coding.
